Fire Insurance Jump Slated

Bad Weather Here Remains Topic Of All Conversation

Daly City Is Not Hit Hard By Storm

Rainfall records in Daly City—as well as throughout most of the Peninsula area—have just about been washed out by continuing rains, which have soaked this section of the country steadily all through the winter.

Today, March 20, is supposedly the official opening date of Spring, but local residents wouldn't bet on it. At the time this article was written the sun was shining, for the first time in nobody can remember how long. It's anybody's guess what will be happening when the same article is read.

Fortunately, Daly City suffered little damage in the big storm last weekend, which brought the total rainfall to more than 30 inches.

That same storm, evidently centering in the San Mateo county area, closed many roads throughout the county. All roads were reported open by the middle of this week, according to County Engineer M. A. Grant. Several of the county roads, including La Honda, Pescadero, Alpine and a part of the old Coastside road, were blocked by slides over the weekend.

High Winds

Winds swept the area last Friday, and were recorded as high as 40 miles per hour. Snow fell on Skyline boulevard—as much as 10 inches—causing the boulevard to be blocked for several hours.

A section of Daly City was without power for several hours Friday when a feeder line was blown down by the winds.

Frankfort street, in the 100 block, was filled with water, as usual. Water poured down from the Crocker Hills, flooding basements, clogging drains and flooding the street.

County Agricultural Commissioner Max Leonard declared that the continued rains delayed fall and winter planting, and would result in short San Mateo county crops of barley and flax—particularly flax. Some damage has been done to the coastside artichoke crop. Shipments of acacia blossoms for florists have been curtailed.

THE FLOOD CAME AGAIN this week to the 100 block on Frankfort street. Water off the Crocker hills carried down tons of silt and mud for the second time this year. Several homes were flooded, and one of the houses is now without a back yard. Additional pictures will be found elsewhere in THE RECORD. (Photo by Pat Corner)

Son Of Daly City Woman Brings Big Bomber In Safely

Word was received by Mrs. Caroline Ostrofe of Daly City that her son was acclaimed a hero in Tokyo after he had brought a giant bomber safely back to it's base when its flying officers were stricken with food poisoning, causing severe nausea and stomach cramps.

Aviation Machinist's Mate Robert A. Ostrofe, a crew member of a four-engined patrol bomber, held the plane in level flight during a long range patrol mission.

Mrs. Ostrofe's son, Robert, who had never touched the controls of a big plane before, crouched betwen the pilot and co-pilot on his hands and knees, to bring the plane to safety. Navy officers said he was responsible for the plane's safe return to its base.

Easter Seal Drive To Be Quickest On Record In County

One of the quickest fund-raising campaigns on record is scheduled for San Mateo county tomorrow, March 21.

It will be a five-minute Easter Seal drive, set for 1:15 p.m. The drive, sponsored by the San Mateo County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., will last just 300 seconds—which must be some sort of a record.

This past week 55,000 county residents received Easter Seals, along with a letter from the society stating its purposes, and a self addressed envelope. "It is hoped, said Dr. William A. Key, honorary campaign chairman, "that the people of the county will, during the five minutes set aside for the drive, put a contribution in the return envelope which they have right in their own homes."

Miss Albinia Armino of Daly City, a victim of cerebral palsy, and Mrs. Ann Bracken, a victim of multiple sclerosis, appeared Tuesday on Del Courtney's television show from San Francisco, and displayed some of the work they do at the county's Sheltered Workshop. They are becoming proficient in ceramics and weaving, respectively.

Eight year old Johnny Watson of Burlingame, a cerebral palsy victim, has been selected from among the many physically handicapped youngsters on the Peninsula as "Easter Seal Child" for the drive.

CALLAN CALLS FOR CD SUPPORT

Thomas Callan, candidate for the board of supervisors, today called upon the public to give full support to the practice air-raid alert here April 3.

This, the second all-county test, will be from 10:15 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. It will be primarily to test the effectiveness of the county-wide alarm system.

"It should be evident to every citizen that these tests are of great importance," Callan said. "Their eventual success or failure may mean the difference between safety and great loss of life."

The Colma business man praised the public for their support of the civilian defense effort, and urged those who have not taken an active interest to do so at the earliest opportunity.

COUNCIL TO MEET TWICE NEXT WEEK

Two city council meetings are slated next week.

The regular meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in City Hall, 75 Wellington avenue.

Tuesday, a special hearing will be held at the same time and place concerning the zoning of "Parcel H" in Westlake.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Painter Sues Daly City Tavern Owner

George Kirchhubel, Daly City tavern owner, is being sued for $20,000 by a 48-year-old San Francisco painter, who charges the tavern displayed a picture of him in a "relaxed" pose at the bar.

Edward Dugan, of 1835 McAllister street, San Francisco, charges he was ridiculed and subjected to public criticism after the picture was displayed.

Dugan charged in his suit, filed in superior court at Redwood City, that while he was a patron in Kirchhubel's tavern, 6296 Mission street, last August, he was photographed and the picture was subsequently put on public display there.

In the action he names Kirchhubel and two employees, Edward Denier and Ray Garravantta as defendants.

Dugan's attorney, John Shortridge of Redwood City, said that at the time the picture was taken, Dugan was relaxing at the bar with his hat pushed back on his

Markovich Files For Assembly

Three Local Men Now In Race

Peter J. Markovich, Daly City insurance man, today became an independent candidate for the state assembly from the new north county district.

A registered Democrat, Markovich cross filed, taking out his papers this morning, March 20, at County Clerk John Bruning's office.

As announced earlier, he will seek the assembly seat as a non-partisan candidate. "I am running on my own merits, and am representing no single party," Markovich said.

Markovich has an insurance office at 6454 Mission street and resides in Broadmoor with his wife and three sons.

This brings to four the number of candidates seeking election to the north county assembly seat.

Others include:

Broadmoor Attorney Thomas Jenkins who is the official choice of the Democrats.

Joseph Gilmore, 10-year veteran of the assembly from the San Francisco area, and now a resident of Daly City. He had sought the Democratic endorsement but, when this failed, decided to run on his own.

Only candidate in the race who is not from the Daly City area is the Republican's hopeful Judge Daniel Creedon, a resident of San Mateo, and judge for the Second Township.

Recreation Meeting

SPRING PARADE RULED OUT THIS YEAR; PARKS PROGRESS UNDER DISCUSSION

There will be no spring festival parade in Daly City this year.

That was the major decision reached at a special meeting of the Daly City Recreation Commission and city council Tuesday evening.

An audience of 15 local residents also heard a resume of the parks program and a progress report on recreation.

Decision to cancel the parade was made after the Jefferson high school board of trustees ruled out the track for horses and vehicles. This was done to avoid damage to newly renovated field. (See Letter to Editor by Pete Markovich.)

While the Commission reached the final decision on the parade, they were advised by Mayor Paul Green to cancel the annual march.

"If we can't do it right, why do it at all?" the mayor said. "I hardly believe we will get the necessary participants if the high school grounds are ruled out."

Ed Cavagnero, member of the Commission, pointed out that the city council usually handled the parade.

"You can't expect us to receive that kind of buck passing," the mayor said." The coucil does not have the time to take over the parade. In the past the council has acted only to appoint a committee to take charge of the march."

The mayor made it clear that he was personally opposed to the parade under the present circumstances, but the final decision had to be made by the Commission.

Accepting this responsibility, the Commission ruled out the march, but noted the regular activities of the spring festival for the younger children will take place at the high school as scheduled.

May 18 was set as the date for the affair.

"Now that we know the Commission is to handle the march, not the city council, we will look forward to making it a big success next year," Cavagnero concluded.

Mayor Green then had a few words to say about the $101,000 parks development program.

"There has been some criticism about progress on Edgewood and

SCHOOL BOARD MEET SLATED THURSDAY

The regular meeting of the Jefferson elementary school board is slated for Thursday, March 27.

The meeting gets underway at 8 p.m. in the Administration building, 344 Santa Barbara avenue.

A discussion of the coming election to up the school district's tax rate is expected. The public is invited to attend.

Auto Dealer Takes Wild Ride On Cycle

A wild ride on a motorcycle with its throttle jammed sent Louis P. Vignali, 39, sales manager for Skyway Auto Sales Company, 6918 Mission street, careening down the street last Sunday and right through the office of a nearby motel.

Vignali told police he decided to move a motorcycle to another place on the auto lot. So, he climbed aboard, opened the throttle. The throttle stuck, and the cycle went roaring down Mission.

Frantically trying to avoid the line of traffic, Vignali headed the machine at an auto court driveway at 6925 Mission.

As he started up the driveway a car started backing out. Vignali swerved off the path. The machine bucked its way up the steps of the court's office; crashed through the door; and finally came to rest, still carrying its driver, against the opposite wall of the room.

Vignali was treated for cuts and bruises and a possible fractured shoulder at Alemany Emergency Hospital.

Council Asks Raise For City Employees

County Assessment Now Being Studied

A maximum raise of $25 a month "across the board" in pay for city employees in Daly City and San Mateo county was recommended last week at a meeting of the north county council in Millbrae.

San Bruno councilman Don Risso, chairman of the salary study committee, presented the report with certain qualifications to 30 north county mayors, councilmen and city managers. It was suggested each city pay as close to the $25 raise as possible within their means, and the raise should be inserted in the 1952-43 budgets.

Daly City administrator Dan Anderson told the meeting a League of California Cities committee is now studying the matter of the new 50 per cent county assessment raise. "We plan to take our investigations to Redwood City and lay our cards on the table with the board of supervisor," Anderson said.

San Bruno councilman Risso said, "A lot of money that we pay to the county in taxes goes to unincorporated areas. We are paying for their improvements. What does the county give us?"

George Worman, Millbrae councilman, recommended commendation of Justice of the Peace Thomas L. Bocci, Jr., for his stand on the superior court docket. No action was taken, however.

Worman also brought up the matter of "contractors who put off doing a city job until the weather makes it impossible."

"It might be good business to take the highest bidder and become villians," he said.

20% Increase Seen Possible

Daly City residents face a 20 per cent increase in their home fire insurance rates, THE RECORD learned today.

The jump is scheduled to take place this year unless some action is taken towards construction of a new firehouse in Westlake.

An official of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, it was learned, says Daly City's insurance classification may be changed from Class 4 to Class 6. The higher classification is for cities with relatively inadequate fire protection. Class 6 areas pay about 20 per cent more than Class 4.

The official noted that the present fire department is exceptionally efficient, but is laboring under the handicap of not having enough equipment or men. But more important, he pointed out, there is no firehouse in Westlake.

He said the necessity for such a station is obvious, as presently firemen must travel over a mile to reach the Westlake area.

The Board of Firewriters was in Daly City six month ago, and at that time discussed the problem with city officials.

A representative of the Board said it was his understanding that work was to have begun on the Westlake station "sometime ago."

Rates Up

He stressed that the fire rates for all of Daly City would be increased, not only for Westlake.

While the city has selected a site for the station, only rough plans have been completed.

The problem is to raise the $65,000 or more needed to finance the building.

City officials, faced with an ever growing city and more and more expenses, are frank to admit it will not be easy to raise the necessary money. The one solution seems to be a bond issue, as it is doubtful whether this sum can be raised from the general fund.

Motel Manager Is Arrested Here On Bookmaking Charge

Link With Mateo Operation Hinted

In the first bookie raid here since last fall—and the large-scale crackdown—local and county officials moved in Tuesday on a Daly City motel operator and arrested him on a felony bookmaking charge.

Jack Swanson, 52, manager of the Serra Motel, 2169 Junipero Serra boulevard, who told officers he was taking bets only to accommodate his friends, was arraigned in Daly City police court Wednesday, released on $2500 cash bail, and charged to appear Tuesday, March 25, for a preliminary hearing.

The raid on the motel, which was set up on information received during a previous raid on a San Francisco bookie parlor, was directed by Inspector A. L. Lamport, of the district attorney's office. Lamport was assisted by Detectives Roy Beecher and August Benasini of the Daly City police department, and the assistant district attorney's inspectors, Joseph Osterman.

Some Connection

Howard Hartley, assistant district attorney, said that when a bookmaking parlor in San Francisco was raided recently, a series of phone numbers was investigated, and one was traced to the Serra Motel.

The raiding officers seized betting tabs, markers, scratch sheets and other bookmaking paraphernalia which indicated Swanson was doing about $50 in gross business a day.

Inspector Lamport said Swanson was operating a "split book," accepting bets at his motel office and then laying them off with another bookmaker.

Officers said Swanson also probably would be charged with violating the federal gambling tax law which requires any gambler to purchase an annual $50 gambling tax stamp.

Swanson, who told local police he was a long-time horse player, himself, denied making book. He said he had just placed a few bets for friends.

Indictment Asked

There seemed to be a connection between Swanson and Fred Mackota, 38, who was arrested January 31 in San Mateo on a similar charge. An indictment asked against Mackota was continued until Monday night, when additional indictments will be asked by District Attorney Louis B. Dematteis.

Dematteis refused to elaborate on any connection between the two men, but it was brought out that phone numbers from both places were found in the San Francisco raid.

It appeared probable the district attorney's office would ask the grand jury to indict Swanson. The grand jury Wednesday morning was scheduled to have returned a true bill asking for an indictment against Mackota and at least one other person suspected of being connected with the San Mateo operation — however, the jury adjourned after a half-hour session with the district attorney.

The Serra Motel, leased to Swanson, is owned by Mrs. Hazel Keagle, former Daly City resident.

Two other men have been arrested during the past week on similar charges. Robert Ridgill, 44, and Edward Cuney, 34, both of Daly City, were arrested last Sat-

County GOP Split In Congress Race

Republican Chairman Ousted After Meet

With the announcement this week that San Mateo county's treasurer Al H. Sagehorn will be an Independent candidate for congress from the newly created Ninth district, the GOP was split wide open.

Sagehorn's announcement was followed Tuesday evening with the ousting of Colonel Enoch L. Richardson as chairman of the county Republican Central Committee.

At a stormy closed session, county Republicans charged Richardson with partial responsibility for "drafting" Sagehorn in opposition to the party's previous choice of J. Arthur Younger as candidate for the congressional seat.

Richardson said he denied the charge, but was removed by an 11 to 1 vote, with three abstaining.

His successor will be J. Ed McLellan of Burlingame.

The official candidate, Younger, was chosen by a fact-finding committee of 312 members. However, some party leaders—especially those in the north county—criticized the choice. They assert Younger is unpopular and stands a "slim chance" of winning the popular vote.

Sagehorn said that he had been "pressed" for several weeks by people throughout the county to enter the Congressional race:

"I now am convinced from the comment I have heard, and the people with whom I have talked, that the Republican party cannot win this election with their present candidate (J. Arthur Younger of San Mateo)," he declared. "Therefore, I am acceeding to their wishes that I enter the race for the good of our party and county."

Civic Group Meets April 10 To Form Chamber Of Commerce

The advisability of establishing a chamber of commerce in Daly City is to be discussed at a special meeting here April 10, THE RECORD learned today.

Civic leaders from every walk of life have been invited to the conclave which will get underway at 7 o'clock at the Club Casino, 6192 Mission.

The meeting has been called by Mrs. Alice VanOver and Mrs. Madge VanHorn, both active businesswomen in Daly City.

Need for a chamber of commerce has generally been recognized here for some time. It is felt such an organization would spur the city on to new prosperity, and generally be a marked improvement over similar groups now functioning here on a semi-official basis.

Guest speaker of the evening will be Fred Jacobson, representative of the California State Chamber of Commerce. He is expected to outline the general plan for a chamber, and point out the steps necessary to form such an organization.

Daly City had a chamber in 1937, but due to lack of interest it went under.

Chances are if a chamber is organized here again it will follow the general pattern laid down by other towns of similar size. This consists of a board of directors, a president, vice-president and a full time secretary-manager. Within the chamber are a series of committees devoted to various aspects of community betterment.

Among those who will attend the April 10 meeting are: Judge Thomas Bocci and his wife, Melina; City Administrator Dan Andersen; Mayor Paul Green; former mayor H. H. Smith and his son, Hugh; Judge William Sweeney.

Local business men will be represented by Thomas Tromborg, James Donahue, C. E. Peil, John McCarty, K. M. Jacobs, James Denney, Charles VanHorn, and Frank Lombardi.

Guests will include: Victor Robinson, manager of the South San Francisco PG&E and past junior president of the South City chamber of commerce; and Dr. Don J. Aubertine of San Francisco.

Spring Parade Ruled Out This Year; Parks Progress Under Discussion

Frankfort parks. We have made it a point not to do anything on these parks until the weather clears. We feel any action now would mean throwing good money after bad.

"None of the parks are in a dangerous condition, so the best thing to do is to wait."

Edward Dennis, Commission member, however, questioned the drainage system at Edgewood park which has resulted in a good part of the park "washing away."

The mayor pointed out the drain was all right for usual weather, but this had been the worst weather in the history of the Daly City area.

The Commission then congratulated City Administrator Dan Andersen for his work in making various minor improvements in the parks.

"I made a tour of the parks last Sunday, and I was much impressed with the progress made after the last meeting we held a month ago," Cavagnero said.

(It was at this meeting that the Commission strongly objected to the lack of cooperation by the city council. They said this had resulted in a slow down on the parks program.)

Dennis then asked the mayor if it wasn't true that the gardeners spent at least two-thirds of their time maintaining the strip of land along Alemany in Westlake.

"That is true, but only at this time of the year when they can't do anything else," the mayor said.

The mayor continued: "You have to remember the baseball season was over in November, and during the winter season it is not as necessary to spend so much time at Marchbanks park. However, I guarantee when the baseball season opens to put the park in first class condition."

Cavagnero noted, however, that as the city has spent a "lot of money" at Marchbanks they should continue to maintain it the year around, not just during the summer and spring season.

Pete Conci, city gardener, asserted much of the fault was to be found in the Recreation department. He said recreation directors were "not interested in taking care of the parks." He specifically said the directors made no effort to keep the children off the banks of the park.

Mayor Green more or less confirmed Conci's statement, adding "playground directors are supervisors, and should keep the children off the banks."

Elman Rose, recreation director, came to the defense of the playground supervisors:

"I think I should clarify a few points. Some of Mr. Conci's statements are not correct. We now have three distinct levels to take care of and only one senior and one junior dricetor. They work only 2½ hours a day and are busy directing the children."

Mrs. Ann Eason, commission member, pointed out much of the damage to the parks was done when the directors were off duty.

Rose concluded he would do what he could to keep the children off the banks at least during the recreation hours.

Mrs. Sorenson, a member of the audience, asked the mayor when steps would be taken to install a fire escape at Bellevue hall.

"The fire chief has already said the building is a fire hazard, and it is time something was done."

The mayor said action would be taken when "the weather clears."

Mrs. Helen Cheatham, school board trustee, inquired as to the city's plans for a park at the Colma school. Mayor Green said he understood the district attorney's office was involved in some type of litigation over the property, and it might not be possible for Daly City to annex the area so as to start work on the park.

"If the annexation is going to be delayed, I think we shou'd use the bond money (about $6,000) in another place," Mayor Green said.

Dennis disagreed, noting the money should be put aside so it can be used at a future date.

Mrs. Cheatham said she would check into the matter and let the city council know how the annexation stands.

The mayor then reported that plans for three recreation buildings at Marchbanks, Edgewood and Frankfort park are now being drawn up, and will be submitted to bid in about 40 days. Plans call for a building casting about $2,000 with a boys and girls lavatory and an all-purpose room.

Earlier the Commission had recommended a larger structure costing about $6,000. Dennis questioned the council's decision on the smaller building.

"Let me straighten you out Dennis," Green fired back. "You can recommend, but the council will decide on the spending of the recreation bond money."

The mayor concluded the Commission had the right to spend the money for repairs and maintenance in their budget, but had no control over major building projects.

The meeting concluded when the mayor asked the Commission's opinion on allowing the Westcoast Shows to hold a carnival here.

Peter Markovich, member of the audience, said he believed that before any decision was reached the public should be given a chance to express an opinion. The mayor and Commission agreed.

head, and with his head resting on his arms which were folded across the bar.

The photograph, the complaint says, was placed upon a quarter card, which carried the words, "Vote for Ed, 'Honest to John' Dugan. Alert. Wide Awake. Get on the job with Dugan."

The complaint further states that the photograph and the card were used without Dugan's consent or knowledge, "with the hope and with the expectation of stimulating trade and custom" and in what the defendants "believed would be a form of humor and amusement."

As a result of the card being displayed, Dugan charges, he has been "exposed to public criticism and ridicule, and has been caused great mental pain, humiliation, mortification and suffering."

He is suing for $10,000 general damages, and $10,000 exemplary and punitive damages.

S.F. Has Largest Post Office Garage

The largest post office garage in the United States has just been dedicated in San Francisco.

Federal, state and ctiy officials joined with post office personnel in the ceremonies which were attended by Assistant Postmaster General Walter Myers of Washington, D. C.

The structure is located in the two-square block area bounded by Beale, 1st, Bryant and Brannan streets, in the shadow of the San Francisco Bay Bridge. The garage will service the local post office fleet of 310 mail trucks and in addition will handle general motor overhaul work on more than 300 additional mail trucks from Northern California and parts of Idaho, Montana, Nevada and Oregon.

The new garage is fitted with modern equipment and has five under ground gasoline tanks with a capacity of 10,000 gallons from which more than 2000 gallons of gas will be pumped daily into the local fleet of mail trucks.

Heretofore the post office has garaged its vehicles in four separate locations.

Another 15 Men Will Be Joining Services in May

San Mateo county draft boards 57 and 58 will be expected to supply 15 men in May, based on a defense department call for 19,000 men—15,000 for the army and 4000 for the marine corps.

The May call duplicates the April call. The local boards will send 15 men to fill this county's Apri quota. Meanwhile, a total of 76 young men were awaiting induction for the March quota.

Many Attend Large Fluoridation Meet

A group of prominent citizens from 11 San Mateo communities gathered last Wednesday in San Mateo for a special meeting on fluoridation of public water supplies. Host for the occasion was the San Mateo County Dental society.

"It is the duty of the dental profession to acquaint the public with new and proven methods of combating dental decay—but it will be up to the public themselves to decide whether or not these measures will be adopted," said Dr. John B. Benediktson, president-elect of the California State Dental Association.

He pointed out the dental profession is unanimously backing the fluoridation of public water supplies. It was decided at the meeting to set up plans for the information of a county-wide citizen committee for fluoridation, including 11 area committees to campaign for the measure in key communities throughout the county.

Other speakers and interested citizens were present from San Mateo, Millbrae, Burlingame, San Bruno, Redwood City, Menlo Park-Atherton, San Carlos, Belmont, Hillsborough and Half Moon Bay.

Election Officers Needed For Primary

"Election Officer applications have recently been mailed to over 3,000 persons in the county who have previously served or have signified their willingness to be of assistance in the conduct of the June 3rd Primary Election," stated County Clerk John A. Bruning today.

Many additional workers will be required at the polls, especially in the newer areas of the county. Vacancies will also arise in some of the older established precincts, due to persons who have moved away—illness, etc.

"An opportunity to be of service in this undertaking, which is the basis of our American way of life, is presented to you as an individual, thus assuring that our Polling Places will be properly staffed," said Bruning.

Persons qualified by their experience and ability to perform this service may obtain application forms from the Election-Registration Department at the Court House or at the offices of any of the City Clerks throughout the county.

"Application should be made at once as appointments to the various boards must be completed as soon as possible and considerably in advance of the actual date of the election," advised Bruning.

Another Youngster Tries Laxative, To His Sorrow

The Ex-Lax habit is catching. Last week two young sisters were treated after they got hold of some of the laxative. This week young Frederick Huebsch, aged two and a half, tried the same thing, and was treated at Junipero Serra hospital, then sent home.

Red Cross Teaches New Artificial Respiration

First Aid Instructors teaching for the San Mateo County Chapter, American Red Cross, are being taught the new "Back Pressure—Arm Lift" method of artificial respiration, the method recently officially adopted by National Red Cross to replace the prone pressure method.

While this method is new to most Americans, it is well known in Denmark, Norway and other European countries where it has been used effectively for many years. The main difference in the two methods lies in the fact that with back-pressure-arm lift, air is forced into the lungs as well as expelled. The prone pressure forces air out, but depends on the elastic recoil of the chest and internal organs to bring air into the lungs.

The change is being made on the basis of long and scientific research and was recommended by the National Research Council. Wm. Budd, Assistant Director of First Aid and Water Safety for Pacific Area, Red Cross, taught the first local class of 20 instructors how to use the new procedure. James Altieri, First Aid Chairman for the local Chapter has taught this new method to date to 2 classes of instructors and one class of the lay public, and it will be included in all future First Aid classes.

Civil Defense and the ever present threat of an emergency have stimulated public interest in these skills. Last year found 3430 enrolled in 154 Standard, Advanced and Junior First Aid classes. This number must be increased many times if Red Cross is to meet the demands of National Defense that one member of each household be familiar with first aid rules and practices.

Funds are necessary to carry on this expanded program, and must be raised during the current Fund appeal. Chapter officials ask that the public be generous in their donations to carry on first aid training and the many other public services given by Red Cross. The Chapter quota is $135,000.

BURGLARS TAKE $75 AT NEVILLE MOTORS

Sunday night burglars entered the office of Neville Motors, 7360 Mission street, broke open a safe and escaped with about $75, police reported today.

The burglars evidently gained entry by climbing to the roof, then lowering themselves down through a skylight. They broke the safe open with a hammer, collected its contents, and left. Police are investigating.

Service Station Employee Tumbles From Motorbike

Raymond Anderson, 19, of 28 Gloria street, San Francisco, an employee at Lombardi's Gas Station, was treated yesterday for lacerations of the face and body after a motorcycle accident.

According to the police report, Anderson was driving out of the station on the cycle when he lost control and fell from the vehicle.

Essay On Lincoln Brings Colma Girl Honorary Mention

(Ed. Note: This is the third in a series of prize-winning essays to be presented in THE RECORD. Winners were all from Colma School. The last composition will be printed next week.)

First honorary mention in the annual Lincoln essay contest, sponsored by the Daly City water department, went to Alice Richmond, a Colma School eighth grader, whose essay follows:

"The tall, gangling boy at the tiller of a Mississippi flatboat skillfully guided the raft as it floated down river toward New Orleans. His companions called him Abe.

"It was in New Orleans that young Abe made one of the statements that later came to be widely known and oft repeated. Watching slaves being sold on the slave block, young Abe said with great feeling, 'If I ever get a chance to hit that thing, I will hit it hard.' Many years later, as president of the United States of America, Abraham Lincoln fulfilled this early promise when he signed the Emancipation Proclamation which freed the slaves.

The whole story of Lincoln's life is a story of struggle against poverty and limited opportunities. As a boy in a Kentucky cabin he lay before an open fireplace and worked out his "sums" on the back of a wooden shovel. He borrowed books wherever he could find them, and the Bible became one of his favorites. In the years to come this early acquaintance with the Bible is revealed over and over again in his speeches and writings, and became the foundation of a simple faith which is the cornerstone of Abraham Lincoln's greatness.

"The virtues of plain honesty, fairness, industry and humanity are visible on every page of Lincoln's life story.

"Lincoln was hated and despised by many people, because they did not understand his real greatness. Today their names are forgotten, while the name of the boy who traveled to New Orleans as a steersman on a river flatboat, and who lived to guide his nation through the horrors of a civil war remains today as one of the truly great in all history.

"Looking back upon this man's life we all realize that today we need men of his simple goodness more than ever."

Two Are Injured In Skyline Blvd. Crash

A car belonging to Joseph V. Blanchard, 56 Ellington avenue, San Francisco, went out of control Sunday evening on Skyline boulevard and plunged over the bank. Two pasengers suffered minor injuries.

Taken to Junipero Serra hospital for treatment were Gertrude Ogletree, 68, of 56 Ellington avenue, and Lolita Carter, 44, of 1338 11th avenue, San Francisco.

The Overland Telegraph Company established communication between San Francisco and New York on Oct. 24, 1861.

New Postal Rules Are Now In Effect

Postmaster John F. Fixa has announced that effective Saturday, March 15, 1952 Air Parcel Post (other than official air parcel post) destined for overseas delivery to members of the Armed Forces and civilian government employees were restricted to a limit of two pounds in weight and 30 inches in length and girth combined.

Fixa added that the new regulations, placed in effect last Saturday by the Post Office Department at the request of the Defense Department, apply to air parcel post (other than official) addressed to Army Post Offices care of Postmasters at New York, San Francisco, Seattle and New Orleans and to Navy and Marine Corps units, including ships, care of Fleet Post Offices at San Francisco and New York.

The new limitations apply only to air parcel post, and do not effect parcels sent overseas by surface transportation where the maximum weight and size will remain at 70 pounds and 100 inches in length and girth combined.

Bond Election Is Asked By Hospital

SAN MATEO—Directors of the Peninsula hospital district have applied to the board of supervisors to call an election for an additional $980,000 in bonds. The board will be asked to place the issue on the primary election ballot June 3.

The hospital is now in the course of construction on the Mills estate. The need for increasing the original bond issue, approved by a majority at the November, 1948, election, was first indicated last May when the hospital board's appeal for $780,000 in state and federal funds under the Hill-Burton act was rejected.

Robert J. Koshland, hospital district president, said the additional funds are necessary in order to complete the hospital.

Local Police Car Involved In Crash

Three persons incurred minor injuries Monday when a Daly City police car answering a call collided with an automobile driven by Thomas B. Wallas, 35, of 161 Shakespeare street, Daly City.

San Francisco police, who investigated the accident, which was one block over the San Mateo county line, said the local police car, driven by Officer Charles Munday, 37, had collided with the Wallis auto at the intersection of DeLong and Crystal streets, when Wallis failed to see the red warning lights or hear the siren.

Injured were Florence Wallis, 11, who suffered cuts and bruises; Elizabeth Wallis, three, minor cuts and bruises; their mother, Mrs. Florence Wallis, 32, cuts. All were treated at Junipero Serra hospital.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IN ORDER

It appears Daly City is waking up to its potentialities.

Thanks to some civic minded citizens, a meeting is slated to form a Chamber of Commerce here. THE RECORD has long advocated such a move, and will look forward with interest to the results of the April 10 conclave.

Need of an adequate Chamber should be obvious to anyone. Not only does such a group encourage business, but it generally spells better living and prosperity for the whole community.

This, too, may be the answer to a functional businessmen's association. As an integral part of a Chamber of Commerce such an association has a much better chance for success.

We understand Daly City did have a Chamber of Commerce in the pre-war years, but it never was fully developed. Possibly the reason for its failure was that the community was not large enough to support such an organization. However, there can be little doubt that we are large enough now . . . and badly in need of a "voice."

One word of warning is in order. We hope politics will steer clear of the Chamber. There is no getting around the hard and bitter fact that petty politics has done more to set this town on the path of regression than any other single factor.

We are happy to see the April 10 meeting is composed of all political sides, and all sides seem to be in agreement that when it comes to a Chamber, politics should be left outside.

RECREATION COMMISSION GROWS STRONGER

The Daly City Recreation Commission now has biceps. Whether these will develop into full-fledged muscles, only time will tell.

This was the major outcome of a meeting Tuesday evening between the Commission and the city council. Ably represented by Mayor Paul Gren—who was the only one of the three councilmen to speak during the evening—the council seemed to convince the Commission that the $101,000 parks program is going according to schedule.

But more important, Mayor Green told the Commission they had power (limited, to be sure) to spend money for minor appropriations, and recommend the hiring and firing of recreation officials. The Commission took to this announcement with smiles and a perceptible sigh of relief.

It is to be hoped the council will not reverse itself later, will not end up behind the 8-ball where it was recently when the Commission pointed up the lack of cooperation between the two bodies.

And if we understand the new set-up, persons with gripes about the parks are to address themselves to the Commission. It will be up to that body to remedy the situation, or at least take the appropriate action to have it done.

In other words, Tuesday night, the city council bowed out of all but the major financial issues involved in recreation. Mayor Green made it clear that the "buck passing" stopped at the Commission.

Of course, it will take time to clearly define the line betwen these two city bodies; but it appears to us to be a healthy sign. All too long the recreation program has been a political football, figuring prominently in every election, hastily forgotten after the votes were counted.

Now that the Commission has more power—has power, in fact, to shape the course of the recreation development here, it is possible the city will find itself getting something done.

We think more and more power should be given the Commission so it will be largely the deciding voice in recreation matters.

We believe this condition will come about, if as many people who attended the Tuesday night meeting make it a point to attend these Commission meetings each month. There is nothing like the spotlight of public interests to boot apathy out of city government.

ONE MAN'S OPINION OF LOCAL POLICE

Some misunderstanding seems to have arisen over a story we published last week concerning the efficiency of the local police department. It has been suggested THE RECORD treated the department unfairly by publishing a story in which a citizen took them to task for what he termed "inadequate protection."

Respecting that citizen's right to speak, we gave him the space we believe such a story deserves. This did not necessarily mean we agreed with him.

In fact, it is our personal view that the Daly City department stands head and shoulders above most departments of similar size. And we have nothing but the highest regard for the men and officers of that force.

However, this is the opinion of THE RECORD and should be in the editorial column, not in the news section.

We would further suggest that the police department, while remarkably efficient, could do very well with two to four more men. With the present 40-hour week, 20 men are not enough to properly patrol the Daly City area. Extra men are needed for relief and to pinch hit during emergencies.

Also, we can see no reason why the present quarters of the police department have not been enlarged. Their facilities are fine for a five man department, but certainly not large enough for the present sized force. There is no question in our mind that a larger station is in order. We believe this station could be built, at a minimum cost, by enlarging the plans for the Westlake fire station and incorporating the police department in those quarters.

Meanwhile, THE RECORD shall continue to print the news on other pages, and our opinions in this column.

THE BUDGET SHOULD BE PUBLISHED

Finances are the principal headache of Daly City, and it is time residents recognized the fact. All too familiar with increased costs in government, these same people fail to recognize why more and more tax dollars are diverted to the city coffers.

A step in the right direction, a step which would clarify the city's financial status, would be publication of the city budget every three or four months. In a clear, understandable form the budget would show how much is being spent, and how much is coming in.

We suggest its publication on a tri-monthly basis because it would give residents a clear picture of where and how the tax dollars are being spent.

City Administrator Dan Andersen is to be praised for his partial recognition of this fact. Although he has not suggested publishing the up-to-date status of the budget, he is now working on a plan whereby the laymen will be able to see just where the city stands financially with one look at the books. He, with the cooperation of the city treasurer and city clerk, is working out a system by which each department will know to the dollar how much is left in the budget. We understand these figures are available today, but not in a form conducive to easy access and understanding.

We suggest the city go a step farther, and publish the budget's status. We are sure this will meet with the approval of the taxpayers, and probably dispel many ugly rumors which crop up from time to time as to the status of funds.

All County Parents Urged To Register

All parents eligible to vote are urged to safeguard this privilege and the welfare of the children by being certain that their names are correctly listed on the San Mateo county registry.

Mrs. Gregory Davis of San Mateo, legislative chairman of Seventeenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers, points out that registration of voters for school district elections in May closes Sunday, March 23.

Requirements for residence are for adults at least 21 years of age, living in California one year, who have resided in San Mateo county for 90 days and in the home precinct for 54 days without a change of name. Those who have just moved may exercise the right to cast an absentee ballot in their former precincts, if they have been properly registered.

Information on scheduled elections for school, utility and sanitary districts prepared by Mrs. Davis was distributed in a voters' work sheet to the presidents of local parent-teacher associations. It was emphasized that, although PTA maintains a non-partisan policy, the political implications of good citizenship are not to be overlooked in electing school trustees and voting school bonds.

Council Candidates Speak

Following are statements by the eight candidates seeking two seats on the city council April 8. THE RECORD takes an impartial stand on this particular political question and endeavors to bring the readers a fair summary of the candidates' platforms. However, after this week the candidates will be asked to limit their statements (with headlines) to no more than 10 inches. This is necessary to conserve space for other vital stories of interest to the public. Two candidates, running as a team, will be considered as one for the purpose of the aforesaid statements. Press deadline for the previously mentioned candidates' statements is Tuesday noon of the week of publication.

Adult Recreation Program Needed -- Tromborg & Wilson

Transportation Mess Now Under Study

Thomas Tromborg and Del Wilson, candidates for the city council, today pledged their full support to recreation activities for the adults of the community.

This is but one more point in the constructive program the two local business men are offering residents of greater Daly City. It is coupled with a sincere desire to put an end to the blundering recreation program here—to bring Daly City adults and children alike tangible results in parks and other facilities.

"I am especially interested in Marchbanks Park," Tromborg said. "As a center for most adult activities, the park is is definite need of a proper lighting system, a public address set-up, and a turf on which games can be played without danger of players breaking an arm or leg."

The pioneer Daly City resident said needed improvements in other parks and the recreation system were too numerous to ennumerate. "But they should be obvious to any parent whose children must play in the streets, or at home for lack of facilities," Tromborg said.

Meanwhile, Wilson today said he was investigating the possibility of a private company introducing a bus system in the Daly City area. A private line seems to be the one feasible answer to the crying need for adequate transportation.

"From what I have been able to learn, from contacts I have made, there are organizations who would be willing to survey our needs, and determine the feasibility of a local bus line," Wilson said.

Both candidates favor private ownership, as this would not hit the now overtaxed residents, and at the same time would indicate better service and lower rates.

Prosepctive main route for the line would be to join the San Francisco bus at the "top-of-the-hill, down Mission street to Market, back to School, thence to Junipero Serra boulevard, up to Westlake, through Westlake, and back to the heart of Daly City via Knowles.

"Of course we would have feeder lines for the other east and west sections, "Tromborg said. "We believe this is the type of service residents want. And we are out to fight for this transportation. All we ask is the support of our fellow citizens."

DeBernardi Asks Voters To Consider Man -- Not A Ticket

Hits At "Package Type" Campaign

Mickey DeBernardi, independent candidate for the city council, today fired a verbal broadside at the "package" type of election campaign.

In a prepared statement today, the Daly City man said:

"In last week's issue of THE RECORD I stated that I would add a few more points to my program. Since that time, however, an alarming fact has come to my attention. I feel this must be brought out before I continue with

"Strange as it may seem, there are many people who do not know that in the coming election two council seats are open. Even some of those who do know have the belief that if they choose to vote for someone running on a 'ticket', they must automatically vote for the other half of that 'ticket.'

"I wish to point out that you can vote for any two men, regardless of with whom they run. There is no need to vote a 'package' set up.

"Please make sure of one thing—that the men you do vote for can stand behind their program. Be sure they will represent you, the voters, first and always, not the interests that are financing an expensive campaign for a position that pays only $50 a month.

"Only if your candidate has no strings attached to him can you be assured of good government.

"I know I can offer you fair, impartial government, as I am running strictly as an independent, and owe no one anything but the voters."

Wheeler Questions Council's "Record Of Achievement"

Requests Answer From Incumbent

George Wheeler, long-time resident and factor in local political circles, complimented THE RECORD on its editorial stating that issues and past record, not personalities, should be the determining factor in the selection of a city councilman.

"This is as it should be in a democratic form of government," stated Wheeler.

"I further believe there is another important factor involved and that is the principle of fair play in revealing facts to the public so that those concerned may have ample time to answer and not have the voters subjected to the last minute smear campaign so familiar to Daly City residents."

"In past issues, I have stated my background of civic interest and published the fact that the cost of our government (aside from the bond issues) has risen from $158,000 per year in 1944-45 to $573,000 for the 1951-52 fiscal period. This is a raise of approximately $415,000 per year or a 260% increase. I believe that the incumbent should at least attempt to explain this to the voters to whom he appeals for support."

"The incumbent states that during his four year term of office a long list of achievements were accomplished, namely, and I quote, 'the most extensive program of traffic signals in the history of the city, annexations of new area, a complete recreation program, new street lights, etc.' "

Analyze

"If the people of Daly City will stop and analyze this 'record of achievement during the last four years,' I believe that they will make a proper selection from the balance of the candidates who solicit their support."

"After reading statements by the Citizens Recreation Committee about the lack of cooperation and support of the program by the present City Council, I cannot adjust my thinking to consider our present setup as a 'complete recreation program' as boasted about by the incumbent."

"I imagine that the 'etc' in the list of achievements refers to the War Memorial Building. That combination abortion and monstrosity can best be judged by the use of the five senses. You can see it, touch it but not use it, hear the adverse comments, taste the political flavor in the pot and smell the stink of over $300,000 of taxpayers money down the sewer."

—George F. Wheeler

Dennis - Gross Rap Council's Election Tactics

Outline Program For Efficient Government

In a statement to the voters in the Daly City Council election April 8, candidates Edward J. Dennis and Henry Gross today raised the following question:

"What is the strategy behind the recent spending of $24,000 out of the general fund for immediate lighting of the Community Center building? Does the incumbent want to "impress" the taxpayers a few days before election that after four years and approximately $300,000 spent, we now have lights burning but no one can get into the building?

Police Commission

"To prevent one-man control of the police department in the future, a police commission should be appointed immediately after the new council takes office. Unfortunately, the incumbent, who is asking for your vote on the basis of his record, has been chairman of the police committee for four years and must bear the responsibility for its performance during that time.

Transportation

"The transportation problem, neglected for the past four years, is one of the most important problems facing our city. The incumbent once again asks to stand on his record as chairman of the council transportation committee. We, Dennis and Gross, advocate an early meeting of San Francisco supervisors with our council to determine if our neighbor city is interested in expanding its operation in our own fast growing city. Denis was one of a committee representing Daly City which a few years ago secured a 20-minute schedule of bus service by the extension of the No 26 bus line to Colma.

"If Muni Railway help fails, we advocate adopting the successful policy of operation in several Peninsula cities and encourage the operation of a private company. A Daly City municipal operation cannot be considered at this time because the Daly City treasury is so low.

Parks, Playground

"The expenditure of the $101,000 bond money for parks and playgrounds has been everything but efficient. After two years of building, none of this work has been completed, and two sections of the city are even without property to erect the playgrounds as prescribed in the bond vote."

Mooney - Verducci Point To City's Improvements

Councilman Says City On "Pay-As-You-Go"

"One by one we have completed projects to improve the entire city, and we must keep on completing a progressive program, item by item, to keep up with the growth of Daly City. Daly City has improved a whole lot during the past four years, and it will improve a whole lot more during the next four if the people elect the proper Councilmen."

These were the words of Councilman Ed Mooney, who, with Joe Verducci as his running mate, is a candidate in the election for Daly City Council on Tuesday, April 8.

Low Taxes

Pointing out that most of the improvements have been accomplished on a pay-as-you-go basis, Mooney went on to emphasize that citizens should recognize the fact that Daly City enjoys one of the lowest tax rates among cities of comparable size in the entire State of California.

The incumbent Councilman went on to praise his runningmate, Joe Verducci and said that Verducci would prove to be one of the best Councilmen ever to sit on the Council, asking that voters compare his qualifications against those of his opponents.

"Joe Verducci knows more about recreation that most people in Northern California," Mooney said. "He has a world of experience in that regard, as we'l as being well-trained in administration, through his association for many years on high school and college recreation programs at the professional level."

Joe Has Friends

Verducci, who grew up in the San Jose Ave., Flournoy St., district of Daly City and attended local schools, is now a resident of the Westlake tract. "Campaigning is a new experience for me," Joe said, "but I enjoy every minute of it because I'm always running across friends I haven't seen for a long while."

The Mooney-Verducci ticket is urging every voter who is sincerely interested in the city's welfare to contact his friends to help elect Ed Mooney and Joe Verducci as Councilmen.

TREASURER CANDIDATES

Following are the statements of candidates seeking the office of city treasurer, April 8. Each of the statements was submitted by the candidates.

Battye Decries Lack Of Interest In City's Funds

Former Councilman States Qualifications

Melford D. Battye in the opening statement of his campaign for the office of City Treasurer pledged himself to an educational program designed to inform the people of Daly City of the city's financial status.

Mel Battye said that evidentally the lack of interest in our city government is caused by lack of knowledge of our city's finances and expenditures.

"In announcing my candidacy I would like to state that I have been a resident of Daly City for the past 25 years, have had four years practical experience as administrator of municipal government, have been a business man and an executive for the last 25 years."

"I am now in the insurance business in Daly City affiliated with my son-in-law, Mr. Arnold Panella. My lodge and service club affiliations in Daly City are Past Worthy President and Secretary of Colma-Vista Grande Aerie No. 1848 FOE, Charter ten year member of Daly City-Colma Lions Club."

"I ask your vote for me at the polls on April 8 based on my experience in city government, my background as a business executive and my desire to be of service to you.

The principal green coffee trading markets of the world are New York, LaHavre, Hamburg and Antwerp.

Selmi Outlines Qualifications For Treasurer

Outlines Duties Of Position

City Treasurer Paul Selmi presented the following statement to THE RECORD this week:

My four year team of office, as your City Treasurer, is about to expire and it is necessary that I campaign for re-election as there is, for the first time in many years, opposition for the office.

The opportunity to make a statement in my behalf, through the facilities of THE RECORD, was offered to me by the publisher, for which I am grateful and for which I do thank him.

The duties of the treasurer are confined to the handling of the general accounting of the various departments of the city which does not make a very interesting story. The entire work comprises keeping a record of the general figures of all departments, accepting their accumulated money for deposit to the bank and being responsible for the reconciliation of the city's accounts with the bank.

All the work is handled in monthly totals, the details of which are not the responsibility of the Treasurer's Office.

Collecting on district improvement assessments is also a function of the Treasurer's Office.

Background

The background of the candidates, I believe, is of greater importance in making a statement to the voters than are the duties of the office to which he aspires, especially to the new residents who are not yet familiar with facts and who's who in the city of Daly City.

The start of my civic activities dates back 30 years when I first joined the Daly City Volunteer Fire Department. The interest and activity carried me to the highest position in that organization, the Chairman of the Fire Commissioners. I spent 12 years as a volunteer fireman in our city.

Next, by appointment, I was made a councilman of the city of Daly City and was elected for two four year terms after that. Again my interest and activity carried me to the position of mayor of the city of Daly City within two years after becoming a member of that board. I have had 10 years experience in the capacity of a councilman.

Among the many other committee appointments that I have acted on in the past are the appointment I received to act as chairman of the NRA for the north end of San Mateo county, and the appointment I received from the Governor of the State of California to act as member of the advisory committee of the selective service draft board.

I was born in Daly City, I have served it in the past and I shall continue to serve it, in this case with permission of the voters.

Bayshore Freeway Still Is Long Way In Future, Engineer Tells Chamber

It will take at least nine years to complete the Bayshore freeway through San Mateo county, John H. Skeggs, assistant state highway engineer, told members of the San Mateo chamber of commerce highway committee last week.

"Your traffic problem is the same as all over California," Skeggs declared. "We're falling behind, gentlemen, not getting ahead."

The engineer said $18,366,090 is needed for state road work in the county. For the five-year period beginning next July only $6,067,000 has been allocated—$2,000,000 of which has already been deducted to complete the Bayshore freeway from Peninsula avenue in Burlingame to Sixteenth avenue in San Mateo.

From A Corner

By Bill Katz

Outside of painting landscapes on hard-boiled eggs, the favorite indoor sport for women is writing.

This was brought to our attention the other day when a literary magazine revealed over 1,000,000 Americans are annually in engaged in writing. In this desperate attempt to wring money out of words, at least 75 per cent are women.

It is true there have been a few successful women writers, some even great, but by far the majority have been beautiful flops. This is not strange, as most women lack the imagination and perspective to plot a story or novel.

Unblessed

Singularly unblessed in this art, women march steadily forward trying desperately to prove the statistics are wrong. In every class devoted to writing, at least 90 per cent of the enrollment will be women.

These writing classes are a social phenomena, and one of the worst results of giving women the right to vote.

Two types of females seem to flock to the combat with words. The more prevalent breed is about 45-years-old, a mother, and from an average middle class family. She is as typical as any women in any part of the country, except for her insane belief that she can write.

Less apt to enter the field is the starry eyed young thing who is convinced she can write poetry to rival the angels. Fortunately a mundane male usually rescues her by slipping a wring round her finger. A rope around her neck might be more in order.

Why, Why

Why do women want to write? The answer is simple: They don't . . . but they do in lieu of paying a psychiatrist a fee. Frustrated at every turn, and convinced the world is still made up of white horses and knights, these matrons turn to writing as the more wealthy turn to the psychiatrist's couch. They want to unload their "brains," and the simplest method is to pour out everything in long hand.

The typical story revolves around a haughty female (usually as sweet as the proverbial driven snow) who finds true love in spite of her lover's weaknesses and inability to earn a dime. Another plot is set in the "good old days" when some lovable old duffer rocks himself to death spinning the "bull" about the civil war. But, of course, the favorite plot is simply one where boy sweeps girl off her too big feet.

Women writers sometimes surprise us, as demonstrated by the number of sweet old women whipping up sex novels. It is surprising how much about the Kinsey report these gals knew even before the tome was published.

However, even sex has its limitations, and women as writers are better off on the end of a mop handle. Better, we say, to keep the house clean than the publishers' offices full of worthless manuscripts.

GIRL BITTEN BY DOG

Nancy Price, 110 Vale street, was treated at Junipero Serra hospital Thursday, March 13, for wounds on the leg received when she was bitten by a dog near her home.

Minor Wreck Reported In Daly City Sunday

Ralph Gabrara, 23, 183 Lobos avenue, San Francisco, and Ella H. Rignell, 20, 279 Roosevelt way, San Francisco, were involved in an auto accident at 6:45 p.m. Sunday at Market and Mission. No injuries were reported, with only minor damage to the cars.

Oldsters At Home Are Entertained By Court St. Mary

Oldest Person Is Presented Bouquet

"Erin Go Braugh" was the byword of Court St. Mary, Catholic Daughters of America, March 13, when members entertained and honored nearly 500 oldsters at the Laguna Honda Home for the aged in San Francisco.

Preceding the St. Patrick's Day program, Frances Acosta, oldest person in the home, was presented with a large bouquet of American Beauty roses, and a bit of Irish cake to pass around to her bedside companions. Mrs. Acosta is 107 years old. The gifts were presented by the grand regent of the Court.

Ladies visiting Mrs. Acosta's bedside were Mesdames R. J. Ennis, F. McDermott, C. Gardella, R. McDonough and A. Heyden.

Residents of the home were greeted by Mrs. Frank McDernott, welcoming chairman, and her committee members, Mesdames Christine Michelson, Dorothy Stewart, H. Schroeder, T. Holmes and J. Heathcoat. They passed out bright green shamrocks to be worn in the lapel.

Two other elderly people at the home were singled out for special honors—with Mrs. Margaret Atkins, 96, receiving a large bouquet of roses; and Fred Ferne, 94, a carnation and a check.

The welcoming address to the old people of the home was made by Mrs. Richard J. Ennis, grand regent of Court St. Mary.

Recent Book Heats Up School Trustees

SAN MATEO—School officials here are hot and bothered over a book, "U.S.A. Confidential," which made market reference to San Mateo high school—saying that "sex clubs" exist among students, and that the subject of sex is a school course here.

A committee of the high school district trustee board last week denied the allegations emphatically.

Sex education, core of the reference to the high school, is a subject which already has been dealt with and is now past history, the committee reported. The school's teaching program is now being carried out in "strict accordance" with board regulations.

Grisen Named Freedom Director For Local Eagles

Worthy President Wilbur Carrington of Colma-Vista Grande Aerie No. 1848, Fraternal Order of Eagles, announced the appointment of Leban E. Grisel as Freedom Director of the local Eagles. Mr. Grisel will have charge of the Eagle program to disseminate information aimed at combatting Communism.

Mr. Carrington revealed that Eagle Aeries throughout the country will join together in an anti-Communistic program keynoted by the phrase "Help Freedom Ring 'Round The World." Heading the program, an International Director of the Eagles' Freedom Committee, is Past Grand Worthy President Robert W. Hansen, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. The International Committee will supply program suggestions and informational material for use by Eagle groups throughout the United States and Canada in the fight against Communism.

Mr. Grisel stated that "Eagle Freedom programs will be grassroots action against the threat of Communism. It is our feeling that if clear-cut ideas are suggested for action against Communist infiltration, great strides can be made. Local action is the basic of the fight and the Eagles plan to carry on the fight on the local level."

Officers Elected During PTA Meet

The following officers will serve Sheridan PTA for 1952-53: Mrs. J. F. Harrop, president; Miss Esther Bahls, honorary vice president; Mrs. Ezra Chase, vice-president; Mrs. W. B. Russell, recording secretary; Mrs. Merle Hewitt, Corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Larribeau, financial secretary; Mrs. Robert Anderson, treasurer; Mrs. Kenneth Manley, historia; Mrs. Harry Hastie, parliamentarian.

Speaker at the March meeting of Sheridan PTA, held March 18 in the school auditorium, was Mrs. C. W. Fontaine, who related colorful "Tales of Early San Francisco." Many of her stories were actual experiences of Mrs. Fontaine's grandmother, who came to San Francisco as a young bride in 1852.

During the business meeting the following were chosen as representatives to the C.C.P.T. convention to be held in San Francisco April 16 through 18: Mrs. J. F. Harrop, president; Mrs. Ezra Chase, delegate; Mrs. W. B. Russel, alternate delegate.

Mrs. Marguerite Anderson, secretary of Sheridan School office, received the Remembrance Fund Certificate in appreciation of her service and cooperation with Sheridan PTA.

The CCPT convention coming in April necessitated postponement of the customary installation luncheon. Therefore, at the close of the March meeting, Mrs. R. W. Niemi, Mt. Davidson Section Counselor, conducted the ceremony for installation of the newly elected offices.

Carrying out the tradition of the past, the annual installation of officers of the Colma PTA will be held at a dinner meeting Wednesday evening, April 2, at 7 p.m. in The Colonial, Junipero Serra boulevard, Colma .

Members and their friends are cordially invited to attend. Reservations may be made at once by calling Mrs. Jack Clayton, PLaza 5-3622, Mrs. George Bertucci, Plaza 5-5040, or Mrs. John C. Wiesner, PLaza 5-0972.

The Colma PTA was ably represented at the 17th District's annual convention today, March 20, by the following delegates and alternates: Mesdames George Bertucci, Ray Cox, William Chessman, Edward Dennis, Joseph Doyle, Roy W. Edgewood Hillside Improvement Club Approves New Plan

Members of the Edgewood Hillside Improvement Club met Monday at Jefferson high school and discussed a plan submitted by the traffic committee.

The program, presented to the group by Sanford Vickers and Wayne Carr, covered the present needs and outlined the entire plan covering an overall traffic program. This program was unanimously approved by the group.

The committee recommended that stop signs be installed at the intersections of Gambetta street and Hillside boulevard, and Hillside boulevard and Market street. Necessary action is being taken to bring about the installation as soon as possible.

The group discussed the problem of getting property owners on Hillside boulevard below Bismark street to install sidewalks. Since children attending the new Colma school and the R. S. Thornton school are forced to walk in the street for a distance of four blocks, the problem will be taken before the proper authorities.

The traffic committee went on record by stating that without the advice, help and understanding of the problem by Police Chief Roland Petrocchi and City Administrator Dan Andersen the work on the traffic program would have taken months to complete.

Art Gilmore, candidate for the state assembly for this district, spoke to the group congratulating them on the way they have handled the traffic problem here.

Larchmont

Henry and Ann Huker were recent weekend visitors at Redding, Calif. They certainly liked it—snow and all—and are already making plans to move there.

Midway

Jackie Crofton was six years old March 15. His party had to be postponed, much to his disappointment, but the chicken pox spots just wouldn't disappear.

Carlos and Kay Mattson and Muhia Bode arrived in Modesto last Friday (the day of the big storm) just in time to see the large front windows of the Grayson Store fall into the street, followed by many mannequins.

Garden Lane

Garden Village is happy to welcome new neighbors Nihardo and Angela Gomez and their two children, Ronnie and Cathy Ann. Mr. Gomez was sent from Los Angeles with the construction and planning department for Sear's new store. When the store was completed he was asked to remain as display manager.

Broadmoor Legion Will Produce Play

The Broadmoor American Legion Post No: 824 and Auxiliary are planning the production of a play in the near future, and tryouts are scheduled for this weekend.

According to Mrs. Ann Jenkins, publicity chairman, this is a new venture for the Legion groups, although they hope to make it an annual event, if successful. The play will be a mystery comedy, but the name has not yet been announced. Money collected will be used for various benefit funds of the Legion and Auxiliary.

Ray Logan and Mrs. Dave Petersen, directors of the play, urge anyone interested in acting or any phase of play production to turn out for the tryouts, which will be held tomorrow evening, March 21, from 7:30-9:30 o'clock. Tryouts also will be conducted Saturday from 2-4 p.m. All tryouts will be held at 512 90th street in Broadmoor.

Biggest Event In History Promised

By DAN SIENES

Plans for the annual Daly City Easter egg hunt blossomed forth last Wednesday, March 12, at a meeting held at the city hall.

All the PTA groups of the city were represented as well as other civic groups. Elman Rose, general chairman of the event, was pleased at the attendance and action of this committee. It wasted no time in wading through the necessary routine, and got right down to planing the biggest event in its history.

There will be three separate hunts this year to make it easy for all the residents of Daly City to conveniently reach a site.

Each site will have the same will be divided into three groups according to age. This amounts to nothing short of nine egg hunting contests.

These event will be run off on Thursday morning, April 10.

Due to the increase in population in some areas, more eggs will be added to the festivities. In all there will be 4,000 eggs hidden, and it has been decided to increase the number of prizes accordingly.

The following is a list of those who were present and did such a fine job of organizing this event: Mrs. W. Miger, Mrs. J. Tarango, Mrs. M. Larson, Mrs. J. Denning, Mrs. D. Carr, Mrs. M. Whirinen, Mrs. J. Jaymat, Mrs. K. Mullen, Mrs. J. Byrne, Mrs. M. Dawou, Mrs. H. Heagney, Mrs. A. Eason, Mrs. M. Wokefield, Mrs. L. Ingersoll, Mrs. E. Prisco, Mrs. M. Kieth, and Mr. Rose.

Another meeting is scheduled for April 3, when final plans will be made and the stage set for the big event.

The San Mateo county board of supervisors were guests of the Commission of the Child Guidance and Consultation Service of San Mateo county at their meeting this week.

A typical case was presented by the Director of the Clinic, Dr. S. L. Sheimo and his staff and wide interest and comment on the part of the Board of Supervisors was shown.

As a member of the Commission, Dr. Lorenz Gerlach, psychiatrist of San Mateo, stressed the importance of Child Guidance Clinic Service and how early treatment of children showing evidence of emotional disturbance can most often save them from possible juvenile delinquency or more serious mental disorders later in life. Dr. Gerlach went even further to explain where without help many of these children may be institutionalized with added expense to the County and State.

"God so loved the world that He gave His Only Begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." — St. John 3, 16.

God gave his Son, Jesus Christ, to mankind as His supreme gift. There is one word that is outstanding in the life of Christ, and that is—sacrifice. Calvary was written over the life of Our Lord Jesus. He came from the glory of the Father's presence down into our world. He came as a servant.

Why did He die the shameful death of the cross? He tells us: "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life."

Lent calls us to accept this gift of God's love for our peace and happiness, for our life.

Missouri Synod Now Large Section Of Lutheran Church

The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod—organized in 1847 in Chicago, today represents about one-third of Lutheranism in the United States, with 1,800,00 baptized members, in 5,000 congregations.

Its missionaries have been active in India for more than 50 years, and in the last decade sent men for the first time into Japan, the Phillipines, New Guinea, Guatemala, Hawaii, Cuba and the Canala Zone.

The denomination operates 1,300 Christian day schools, staffed by about 3,300 teachers.

To train teachers and ministers, the body maintains 14 colleges and seminaries, and is building a senior college to augment the program.

During Wednesday's meeting, two members with perfect attendance records for five years, Elio Fontana and Ed Weisenburger, were presented with five-year pins by R. L. Crane, secretary of the local club and zone chairman.

The speaker was introduced by Arno Parnella, program chairman. About 30 members were at the meeting.

Next week's speaker will be Leonard England, who was a war prisoner in Germany for six years during the last war. He is being sponsored by the Red Cross, and will speak on Red Cross and disaster.

A Lion's Club trophy, which was set up last year by Daly City and South San Francisco Lions' Clubs for the high school football team in each city which showed the best sportsmanship, and which was given to both teams, will be turned over to the local school this week. It was kept by South City for the first six months. The trophy will be presented by local Lions Club president, Ira Neville.

PREVENTS MANY STRAINS

There is a degree of truth, perhaps, in the charge that car makers are responsible for the situation that makes it necessary to slam the automobile door in order to close it, points out the National Automobile Club. Car owners, however, are not entirely innocent, and a little oil or graphite applied to door locks and strikers will demonstrate this to the satisfaction of the most skeptical.

Nursing Group Honors President

Dr. Logan Gray, new president of the Visiting Nursing association of San Mateo county, reversed the usual order of procedure and presented a gavel to the outgoing president, Mrs. George V. Kulchar of Hillsborough, at the second annual meeting of the organization held last week at Villa Chartier in San Mateo.

The inscription on the gavel reads: "Mrs. George V. Kulchar. Presented by the members of the Board of Trustees of the Visiting Nursing Association of San Mateo county, Incorporated, in recognition of her dynamic leadership as their first president, 1950-1952."

In her annual report, Mrs. Kulchar told of the esprit de corps that had grown up among the members of the board in their struggle for financial solvency during the past year.

This year the VNA became a red feather agency of the Community Chest of San Mateo county, and will receive a third of its budget from that source. With this and other sources of income, Mrs. Kulchard stated, the VNA will continue to provide part time professional nursing care on a visit basis to the people of San Mateo county.

Jefferson PTA Group Hears Report That Parents Are Scared Of Teachers

"Most parents are afraid of teachers. They feel they are gods of wisdom, separate and apart from the human race, standing with feet of sterling silver."

This was the idea presented by Mrs. Milton Jensen in her annual presidential report to the Jefferson Union high school PTA.

Other reasons given for the small attendance of high school unit meetings were "numerous working parents, who are too tired to sit through boring, parliamentary procedure; programs not geared to adult minds and comprehensions; teachers' fears that the PTA might become an imposing force; and students who discourage parental attendance because they feel the parents and teachers only want to discuss the tender bud of their growing adulthood."

Mrs. Jensen said a large, active, interested membership would dispel most of these problems.

Elected new president of the unit at the last meeting was Mrs. Ilda Blackburn. A long-time resident of Daly City, she has served as vice-president for the past two years.

She and the following elected officers will be installed at the next meeting: Mrs. Hilda Heagney, vice-president; Stanford Hanna, honorary vice-president; Mrs. Marie Poole, recording secretary; Mrs. Marge Calvin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Florence Hopman, financial secretary; Mrs. Ida Bergstresser, treasurer; Mrs. Margie Reandeau, auditor; Mrs. Jensen, historian; and Mrs. Eve Hobbs, parliamentarian.

Bibbero's Babble

By STAN BIBBERO

As a new resident of Daly City—and a reluctant pedestrian—I must admit complete bafflement about the system of stop signals on top of the hill.

Being a somewhat timid man, with a built-in reflex conditioning to obey all signs, I almost didn't make it to work the first morning here, which no doubt would have given the boss a pretty poor idea of his new reporter.

Unfortunately it was necessary to cross the street—several streets, in fact—in order to arrive at the office. This situation was aggravated by the fact I had only a hazy idea of where the office was located, and made a couple of false starts.

Frankly, one look at the morning traffic streaming down Mission, up Mission, up and down San Jose, not to mention several other streets which flow into the main stream, just about undid me completely. However, the sight of traffic signals was reassuring. For a moment, that is.

A red, pedestrian sign across the street said WAIT. Seemed perfectly simple. However, the light above the sign was green, which usually means GO. To add to the general confusion, a line of traffic on one side of Mission was moving rapidly along. A line of traffic the other way on Mission was going nowhere.

The object was to cross Mission. Pedestrians, no doubt hardened to conditions, didn't seem to pay any attention to the signs, evidently believing themselves to possess charmed lives. One line of traffic finally halted, the pedestrian sign said WALK, and I walked.

Then, half way across the street, the sign suddenly changed back to WAIT, spelled out in ominous red letters. Not even a jackrabbit could have made it across the street during the time the sign was green.

Utterly shaken, I glanced around in sudden panic. Half the street remained to be crossed and, while the cars had not yet gone into action, the drivers inched forward menacingly, eyes rooted on the sign, foots twitching on the gas pedals. No one glanced at the lone pedestrian in the middle of the street, namely me.

Well, deciding to be bold and go out in a blaze of glory, I dashed for the other side. Several drivers appeared tempted, but perhaps it wasn't open season on pedestrians that day, because none jumped.

Fortunately I was early for work that first day, because it took me three cups of coffee and a half-hour to generate enough courage to trip it again. Once safe in the office, I refuse to budge for the remainder of the day.

Even now, after three weeks here, I assiduously avoid errands which will take me to the top of the hill. That signal system may be an engineer's pride and joy. Personally, I think he was seeing pink elephants when he drew up the plans.

Library Books Are Gift Of Westlake PTA To New School

New Officers Named During Recent Meet

The Westlake PTA voted, during the March 6 meeting, to present library books to the school as its gift for the year.

Inasmuch as Westlake is a new school and library books are not available, the unit felt this would be the most worthwhile gift at this time.

The following officers were elected to serve during this year, and will be installed at the April meeting: Mrs. Howard A. Dunbar, president; Mrs. Fred Kruse, vice-president; Mrs. Gordon Carlson, recording-secretary; Mrs. Jack Hagopian, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jerome Heller, treasurer; Mrs. Francis A. Gates, auditor; and Mrs. George Bozzini, historian.

H. Z. Wiebel, superintendent of elementary schools, explained the need for an increase in the tax rate for the Jefferson elementary school district. Wiebel said the proposed increase will be from 93 cents to $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation, which is needed for operating the schools, paying teachers, purchasing equipment and providing maintenance.

This issue will be on the May ballot, and all residents were urged to register for voting before March 22.

Mrs. Audrey Eves, of the Westlake Flower Shop, was guest speaker for the evening. She demonstrated that quantities of flowers are not needed to make an attractive floral arrangement.

Refreshments were provided by third grade students of classes taught by Mrs. Lewis and Miss Glasse.

Young Girl Honored On Date Of 13th Birthday

Beverly Sundermann, 13, was honored on her birthday Tuesday, March 11, with a party given at the home of her mother, Mrs. Lester Davis, 32 San Pedro avenue.

The girls present brought many gifts for Beverly, and watched her cut the birthday cake. Games were played after the refreshments were served.

Those attending were Jacqueline Hulme, Patricia Bertilil, Laverne Gardner, Gloria Cloake, Robin Tempkin, Fran Suenderman, Mary Ann Volker, Sue Hinkle, Nancy Smitke and Joan Mandel.

Daly City Girl Burned When Gown Catches Fire

Carol Ann Winters, seven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Winters, of 847 Hillside avenue, was treated for first and second degree burns on her right leg March 7 at Junipero Serra hospital.

Hospital authorities said the little girl had been playing in her back yard in her nightclothes when her attire caught fire.

Crocker Student Is Spelling Champ For Jefferson District

Crocker sixth grade student Deanne Dolan, 11, is the new Jefferson Elementary district spelling champ for 1952. Deanne won her championship Tuesday at the Woodrow Wilson school, competing in the district finals against three other students from schools housing sixth, seventh and eighth grade youngsters.

Representing their respective schools were Olga Turkoff, 10, of Westlake; Kay Shannon, 11, of Jefferson; Florence Verducci, 12, of Colma; and the winner, Miss Dolan.

All students except Florence were sixth grade students. She competed against eighth grade students at Colma school, but was seventh grade school champion.

Twelve rounds of words were given out by Mrs. Hahn, principal of Woodrow Wilson school. Judges were Marjorie Tobias, principal of Colma school, and H. Z. Weibel, superintendent of the Jefferson elementary district.

April 3 at 1:30 p.m. at Turnbull school in San Mateo, Deanne will compete against other winners in the county for the county championship.

B'moor Mothers Hold Round Table

The following den mothers from Pack 84 of Broadmoor Village attended a meeting of the den mothers' round table March 12.

A lecture was given on handicrafts, and at the meeting a number of articles were shown which could be made by the Cubs.

Art Slinde, scout executive of San Mateo county, presented a short motion picture on correct pack meeting procedure.

Members of Pack 84 have expressed thanks to all of the people in Broadmoor for their cooperation in the last paper drive—especially the parents who helped the boys pick up the papers.

Political Scene

Returning From "South Of The Border" Smith Looks To Northern Politics

March 15, 1952

Dear Sir:

On my recent return from "South of the Border," the land of sunshine, peace and quiet, I learned that it was stated in an article in your paper that I would not be interested in the coming city election.

What a relief that must have been to the people of our city. In previous elections our City Fathers have succeeded in alerting them to the danger and thwarted the determined effort of the "Smith Political Machine," whatever that is, to gain control of our city in order to sully the existing lily-white, non-political status of our city government, and to impose its evil and political influences upon our fair city.

Is it possible that your article focused the attention of our people to these accomplishments of our City Councilmen, thereby prompting that massive and imposing concourse of people to storm the City Hall and to take part in that momentous event, a peacetime draft, the draft of Councilman Mooney — completely against his wishes to seek re-election as Councilman, as the publicity given this all-important event would indicate?

Demonstration

Or could this overwhelming demonstration by that vast and determined multitude have been occasioned by the satisfaction and enthusiasm of the populace as they reviewed more fully the record of our city councilmen and more especially that of Councilman Mooney?

For instance, could a part of this multitudinous gathering have been composed of those wishing to express their appreciation for the fine business-like handling of the $100,000 bond issue voted several years ago which resulted in those spacious and commodious recreational areas on the hill above Edgewood Terrace and on Frankfort Street?

Again, could this overwhelming throng have been Westlake area residents thus expressing their appreciation for the replica of Golden Gate Park that has been provided for them in that part of our city?

Could this crowd have been composed of those who admire the architecture of our War Memorial Building and the successful business-like handling of the money voted for that project?

Or could that crowd have contained the hundreds of satisfied and happy people appreciative of that feeling of coziness and convenience at our municipal bus terminal and transfer point?

Again, could that Mooney draft multitude have been composed partly or wholly of those happy with the well-regulated traffic signal system on the Hill, smoothly and efficiently expediting the free flow of pedestrian and automobile traffic?

Draft

Or could the real reason for this Draft-Mooney public demonstration, of astonishing magnitude, have been an expression of thanks on behalf of themselves and their wives and children for the nation-wide headlines our city received during the period when Councilman Mooney was Chairman of the Police Committee?

Time and space available in your paper between now and election day would be wholly inadequate for anything like a full and fair treatise of the many other similarly astonishing things that have happened to our city, and which point out clearly those to whom Mr. Mooney's absence on the Council would be a real loss.

Knowing how difficult it is to anticipate what the voters will do on election day, I presume it is expecting and hoping for too much to expect and hope that same multitudinous crowd participating in that "Mooney d-r-a-f-t" (where this draft took place and the atmosphere surrounding it I leave to your own imagination) will swarm to the polls to vote for him on Tuesday, April 8th.

In the firm belief that Councilman Mooney well merits and will receive the support and votes of all who took part in the draft (some reports have placed the number of persons taking part in that draft as being as many as ten), I rather feel that when my absent voter's ballot showing that I did not vote for Mr. Mooney is counted it will not have much bearing on his chances for re-election.

Very truly yours,
H. H. Smith

Westlake's Parcel H

Petitioner's Spokesmen Call On Public To Turn Out For Hearing Next Tuesday

All Residents of Daly City:

A group of residents in the vicinity of the now famous "Parcel H" in Westlake have been working to have this area zoned from commercial to first class residential.

These residents request your support at an open hearing which has been slated for Tuesday night, March 25, at 8 o'clock in city hall, Daly City.

We feel that to allow this area, near Lake Merced and adjacent to the San Francisco county line, to be commercialized will have a far more reaching effect on Daly City than is ordinarily realized.

We hope that all persons interested will come to this meeting and listen to the speakers and make their own observations, for each of us is totally affected.

I would like to tell you why you are affected in this letter, but to do so would expose our program, and would not be to our best benefit.

Come to the meeting and support a group who seek just action. To give a favorable decision the city council must be assured that the will of the people is "that the area be zoned to first class residential." The will of the people can only be exhibited by your presence at this meeting.

Our thanks to the many citizens of Daly City who have extended to us their cooperation. I hope this cooperaton is extended to a good turn-out at the Tuesday evening meeting.

Spring Parade

Markovich Explains School Board's Position Regarding Parade Status

March 17, 1952

Dear Sir:

In reference to your article in the last issue of THE RECORD titled, "Jeff High Ruling May Kill Spring Festival Parade."

I would like to make clear that the Board of Trustees are whole heartedly in favor of the May Day Festival and the school grounds will always be available for the parade.

The school grounds, as mentioned above, are definitely open to those participating in the parade. However, the ruling was against any heavy equipment and horses which, as everyone knows, would harm a new track.

The Board has never interfered with anything that brings joy and pleasure to the people of this community. Our job as trustees is to maintain the best athletic facilities possible for the safety of our youngsters. Thus far we have succeeded in doing so. Our plan is equal to the best on the Pacific Coast.

I would like to recall an incident that happened last year when horses were allowed to trot around the grounds—one youngster came near being trampled on. The horse in this case knocked the youngster down but quick thinking by one of our local firemen saved the youngster from injury.

Sincerely,
Peter J. Markovich

Local Meat Market Cited For Failure To Meet OPS Law

The OPS in Federal Court this week asked injunctions be granted against a retail market to halt cutting and pricing practices which have proved costly to Daly City shoppers, it was announced by Homer F. Potter, district director.

The U. S. Attorney's office asked Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman for preliminary and final injunctions which would forbid future violations of OPS beef cutting, grading, pricing and posting regulations by King's Market, 2350 Junipero Serra boulevard.

William B. Spohn, special assistant to the U. S. Attorney, who seeks the action for the price agency, charges the operators of the Daly City Market, Michael Jacobs and Abe Miller, and three butchers, Emile Meyer, also meat department manager, Joseph Marshall and Alexander Carter, violated OPS regulations in three instances.

The store, according to Spohn, sold beef cuts at over ceiling prices; cut and sold improper cuts of beef, and failed to display the selling price on each display of beef.

The practice which hit the pocketbook of the consumer, he continued, was the adding of strips of fat to roasts. OPS investigators discovered that in the sale of boneless beef shoulder roasts a strip of fat weighing approximately one and one-half pounds was wrapped around the cut before it was weighed and sold.

Discussion groups were held on the topics of counseling in both the elementary and secondary schools, group guidance, individual appraisal, and vocational guidance. Discussion leaders included Miss Helen Dobbie of Jefferson high school.

Parent Groups Are Ready To Produce Television Series

United interest of educators and parent study groups in television production will be sparked by a series of programs on KRON-TV the week of April 14-18, it has been announced.

The particular concern of the Seventeenth District, CCPT, will be the presentation of a sociodrama, "High Pressure Area," over "Operation Education" from 9:45-10:15 a.m. Friday, April 18.

Sponsorship of the play is shared by the District PTA, the office of the San Mateo county superintendent of schools, and the adult education center of the San Mateo Junior College. A live show will be given for the parent education conference Thursday morning, April 17, at the CCPT convention in San Francisco.

A cast from Peninsula Theatre, directed by Robert Brauns, will take part in the play, written by Nora Stirling. Since this is an experimental effort, special permission of the National Mental Health Association has been granted to produce it. Viewers are asked to register their comments with the co-sponsors and Station KRON-TV.

For Monday, April 14, on "Operation Education," Mrs. Edward T. Walker of Los Angeles, CCPT president, and other board members will be interviewed. On Wednesday, April 16, the San Francisco second district mother-singers will persent a choral program.

Folk Dancing Classes Will Start March 26

Daly City residents are reminded that the recreation department is sponsoring a new beginners class in folk dancing, starting March 26 in Castle Hall, 7339 Mission street.

Classes will be held each Wednesday, starting at 8:30 p.m. Those interested are asked to be there the first night, as the teaching is intensive and beginners find it a bit difficult if they start too late. The class will be taught by Muriele Pabst.

KATHLEEN NORRIS
Who Comes First?

"I AM in desperate trouble and want you to help me," says Estrella Longmans, from Minneapolis. "Sam, my husband, was elected to a state office this week, and that just seems the last straw! Because I know he won't be satisfied with this job, he says openly that in a year or two he wants to climb higher, and I just feel that I can't face it.

"We have two sons, doing well in high school, and a daughter who is making her first bow in social life. I have devoted every effort of my life to their welfare, and Sam's of course, and this change will upset their lives more than it will mine. Jill is a lovely girl, talented and much liked, but she is quiet and shy, and I've been building her up among the young folks and my friends—all for nothing now!

Plans All Ruined

"Then my home. We have a ten-room corner house, double garage, lovely garden, in one of the long-settled nice quarters of the city. Every chair and rug in this place means something to me, every room is papered and curtained by my choice; I have planned for Jill's room, built on a dining room big enough for dancing, changed the old breakfast room into a study for Sam—I wish now I hadn't; he got political ideas the minute he had a place in which to think!

"Already he has put our home on the market for rent; already half his talk is political personalities. I've got to be nice to this dull man or that; I've got to go with him to other cities to meetings. I hate it all, and Jill does, too, and we feel bewildered and irritated at being switched about this way. Then there are my mother and two married sisters who live here, and of course clubs, shops, market, doctor, dentist; all the affiliations one makes after 43 years of living in one place. I love Sam, and am proud of him, but really there are limits.

"Now to my question. I want Sam to go his political way, leaving me here with the children. When Larry is ready for college, and Philip a junior there, and when Jill is perhaps engaged, then I will feel free to do anything he likes—even go to Washington, a crowded city that I haven't liked at all on short visits.

"Sam wants us to pull up stakes and go where he goes. That means a hotel, for awhile. A hotel with three growing children! Then a house, or rather an apartment, with all the furniture strange except what we carry in. All the while, in the background, will be the conviction that presently we will be on the move again. And all the while political talk! Now, which of us is right?"

In Reply

Dear Estrella, I say in reply, it is a little late in the day to ask that question. If your heart doesn't want to accompany this smart man of yours; if your daughter's dates for movies and dances, and your chairs and your double garage really count at this point, you are lacking in something that most of us as wives possess as a matter of course, and wouldn't be without. It must amaze a brilliant and ambitious man, who achieves a success that would put 99 women out of every 100 wild with pride and joy, when the wife of his bosom talks of the engagements of a 19-year-old girl, two schoolboys—a new dining room and some wallpaper!

Sam is going to have a real chance to serve his country, to take his honesty and energy and loyalty to the capital, to increase his children's educational advantages as no schools could! And here is the dear little woman, in good old Victorian style, pettishly jerking her curled little head, and declaring that those nasty men with their nasty politics have no interest for her!

You belong to another generation, Estrella. I have an idea that the last great war annoyed you on the score of butter and motor gas, that you were one of the women who stood in line for hours—no, not to donate blood, but to get one rationed pair of nylon stockings.

How do we know what's good for our children? Perhaps pulling them out of a rut will be as good for them as keeping them in it. Possibly your sons are keeping their fingers crossed in desire for the day when Mom and Pop move out and they go over to Aunt Mag for the rest of the term. Possibly Jill, who is shy and lonely at 19, will develop new social graces in a new atmosphere. Who are you to decide that any course you take—especially this one, which means loyal support of your husband's career—is going either to make or break your family?

OUR SERVICEMEN

(This column brings you news of men in the armed service. In order that it may cover the activities of all Daly City area men, drop into The Record office, 3317 San Jose Ave., or call PLaza 5-4321.)

A. B. BARSTEN

Recently graduated from the Aviation Electronics Technician-Electronicsman School, at the U. S. Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn., was Alfred B. Bardsten, aviation electronics technician airman, USN, of 526 Vista Grande avenue.

Barsten, who entered the Naval service in February, 1951, received his recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, San Diego.

Before entering the Navy he attended Jefferson high school.

G. A. ESCOBAR

Guillermo A. Escobar, nephew of Mrs. Filomena Mendoza of 238 Los Banos avenue, is now undergoing training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

The 21-year-old former San Francisco City College student was inducted in the Marine Corps at San Francisco recently.

During the eight-week "Boot Camp," as recruit training is commonly called, Private Escobar will become well versed in such basic military subjects as precision drill first aid, Marine Corps history and mission and field tactics.

Three weeks of the training period is spent at the Camp Matthews Rifle Range, situated 15 miles north of San Diego. While there, Private Escobar will fire the .30 caliber Garand rifle, .45 caliber pistol, carbine and Browning Automatic Rifle. He will also receive indoctrination firing with the light and heavy machine guns, 60 and 81 mortars, flame throwers, and the latest type bozookas. Under a newly adopted training program he will also receive instructions in throwing live hand grenades.

Ecobar was employed by the Beton Company in San Francisco before reporting for service with the Marine Corps.

Upon completion of recruit training he will be granted a 10-day leave and, if he has maintained a good record, will be promoted to Private First Class. He will then be assigned to a Marine post or station for duty or to a Marine Corps School for advance training.

DON H. MORGAN

Serving aboard the land ship dock USS Epping Forest, operating with the Pacific Fleet, is Don H. Morgan, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Morgan of 407 Hillside boulevard.

During the summer of 1951, the Epping Forest took part in what has become known as "Operation Mig Swipe." To help USN Forces in their fight against increased enemy air power, the ship helped to capture and salvage a Russian-made MIG-15.

The landing ship dock also transported part of the 45th Armored Division from Northern Japan to Korea, and performed duties as a Mine Sweeper Tender.

P. J. RASMUSSEN

Old ships never die . . . nor are they forgotten after they sink by the men of the repair-salvage ship USS Deliver, such as Paulus J. Rasmussen, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Rasmussen of 443 Vista Grande avenue.

Since her arrival in the Far East in July, 1951, the Deliver has been credited with the salvage of seven United National vessels, three of which were civilian merchant ships. Her crew includes divers, metalsmiths, welders and salvage experts.

But the Deliver has delivered more than salvaged ships. She was the first ship of any size to enter the innermost parts of the Red harbor of Wonsan since the evacuation of the Allied beachhead there in 1950.

The Deliver has participated in the bombarding and blockading of that harbor by sneaking past Red shore batteries to lay marker bouys, showing possible channels for minesweepers and large destroyers. This was done under heavy enemy fire and the Deliver had to fight its way out of the harbor.

C. L. TYLINGCO

Along with other crewmen serving aboard the destroy escort USS Alvin C. Cockrell, Carlos L. Tydingco, chief radioman, USN, formerly of 149 Hillcrest drive, recently participated in the largest Pacific Fleet training exercises held since the Korean outbreak.

The exercises, called "Lex Baker One," took place off the coast of Southern California. Over 70 ships and 15,000 men of the Navy and the newly activated Third Marines participated.

Recreation Softball Games Rained Out

For the second straight week softball teams representing Daly City grammar schools were forced out of action because of the weather.

Wet grounds at Marchbanks Playground necessitated further postponement of the already delayed schedule. Next Saturday, weather permitting, the teams take the field at 9:45 a.m.

Games scheduled for March 15 will be played at the end of the regular season, or on April 19.

Silvestri Moves Into Quarter-Finals In S. F. Amateur Golf Championship

Colma's Bob Silvestri caused plenty of comment Sunday in third round matches of the San Francisco amateur golf championship at Harding Park.

Silvestri, playing beautiful two under par golf, defeated big Walter Gilliam, 3 and 2. His win means he will meet the 19-year-old Stanford freshman, Fred Brown, in the quarter-finals Saturday. Brown beat the Oakland Negro star, Marice Smal, 3 and 2, Sunday.

A Repeater

The Silvestri-Gilliam fray was a history repeater, Bob having downed Walt in the semi-finals of the 1950 tournament, 4 and 3. Silvestri, four times a runner-up for the title in the past six years, seldom shot better golf than he did Sunday. Both men were out in even par 36 and all square as they ding-donged through the first nine holes.

Then, however, Silvestri put on the pressure, taking an eight foot putt for a birdie on the eleventh, and a two-footer for another birdie on the twelfth to go two up.

He gained his winning margin of three-up when he carefully stroked out a par on the fifteenth where Gilliam missed a second shot and then a five-foot putt to bogey the hole.

Gilliam finished the match but one stroke over par as Silvestri was two under.

Linhares Loses

Daly City policeman Art Linehares was knocked out Sunday in his third round match with Sacramento's Vern Callison—but just barely.

The match went to the final green for a decision. Callison was two strokes par, and Linehares four over.

Linehares hit a ball out of bounds on sixteen to enable Callison to square the match, but Art prevented loss of the seventeenth with a great second shot. His tee shot there came within a fraction of an inch of rolling out of bounds, a pine needle stopping it.

Linhares quickly stepped up to the ball and hit a wedge shot which stopped just nine inches from the cup to enable him to get a half.

Both men missed approaches to the eighteenth, but Callison put his third six feet from the pin and sank it. Linehares, three feet away, found the pressure too great and missed.

Daly City Net Ace Wins Championship In Southland Play

Brown To Play Soon In Lakeside Match

Tom Brown, Daly City attorney and one of the nation's better tennis players, knocked off the country's best last week, and Monday defeated Harry Likas, of San Francisco, 6-4, 2-6, 9-7, to take the La Jolla invitational tournament men's singles championship.

Brown, who is connected with the local law firm of Fahey, Castagnetto and Gallen, has not concentrated heavily on tournament play during the past couple of years, but that fact didn't seem to bother him much last week.

In the quarter-finals Brown defeated Ted Schroeder, veteran Davis Cup player, 6-1, 6-1; and in the semi-finals he picked off Art Larsen, top seeded player and former U. S. champion, 6-3, 6-3.

Likas, one of the better young players, beat Noel Brown, of Los Angeles, in the quarter-finals, and Herb Flam, of Beverly Hills, in the semi-finals.

Brown told a reporter from THE RECORD today he plans to confine his tennis mostly to California tourneys, although he may enter the national tournament in Forest Hills.

Local tennis fans will have a chance to see Brown in action Saturday, March 29, at the Olympic Club at Lakeside. He has entered the Northern California Bay Counties tourney. His last opponent, Likas, will aso be present, as will Maureen Connolly, who beat Louise Brough in the finals at La Jolla Monday.

G.I. IN ENGLAND WELCOMES RECORD

February 13
England

Dear Sir:

I received three copies of THE RECORD at one time today and I guess I don't have to tell you how swell it was to read about the old home town.

. . . By the way, if the argument is still going on about changing the name of Daly City, I'd like to vote for keeping it Daly City.

Well, again, thank's a million for the paper.

Jeff Baseballers Take Loss From S. F. Team

Two Washington high school hurlers handcuffed Jefferson high school's Indian diamondmen to one hit Monday as the Jeffs nodded to the San Francisco nine, 6-1, in Daly City.

Myron Raphael and Bert Kamalman provided the mound talent, while Eagle Don Farber smashed a double and a triple, driving in four runs, to pace the Eagles at the plate.
